

edYOUcators' Magic Polishing 2 Process

Step 1: Pay the Magic Polishing 2 price according to the number of the words in your essay.

- It is best if you give us a word count target/limit, but if it is not specified then you can use our Word Count page to choose the appropriate price.

Step 2: Our editor will email you in two business days after the payment with an initial proofread draft of your original essay as well as questions meant to reveal more information that can be used to strengthen the essay. Answer these questions in whichever language you can best express yourself in, English, Chinese, or Korean. If there are certain words or phrases that are especially important put them in English.

What are Consciousness and Clarity with areas? How do they specifically relate to what you want to do?

두, well-being 순, Turfity
te and Well-being in 있다.

You don't talk about your undergraduate experience very much, is there anything from it that you can relate? Why did you choose your field? Why do you like it enough to want to continue into doctoral studies?

If there is another candidate that had the exact same work experience and education as you, why should they choose you? What makes you unique as a person?

Have you had any particular moments of insight that made you decide to stay in the field or that really made you passionate about the field? (Not everyone has these but if you do it may be worth mentioning.)

<- This is one of the email consultations that we carried out for Magic Polishing 2. The more room the essay can be improved, the more questions we will send you. It does not mean that all the answers will be reflected in the revision. Our editors will carefully think and decide which content will be included based on your original draft and your answers. Please make sure that all specific terminology that is particular to your field is written in English (technical vocabulary, phrasing structures, etc.).

Step 3: As soon as you can answer the questions (we assume 24 hours) send your responses, as well as any questions that you may have about the first revision to info@edyoucaters.com. Please write as specific as possible. If you cannot answer some questions, that is fine. Just write as much as you can.

Step 4: Our editors will revise your essay again and add important information from your answers that will help admissions committees understand you better. Our editor will not only revise grammatical errors and word choice, but also strengthen the tone, style, structure, and content. This second revision will be sent two business days after we receive your answers.

Step 5: After you receive our second revision, read it very thoroughly and check if there are any changes of meaning in the essay or any parts you are concerned about. Write and send us an email with any changes you want to make or questions you have about the revision. Send this third revision request within 24 hours.

Step 6: Our editors will revise the essay based on your requests and concerns. If we feel it is needed, we will email you for clarification or to make sure we understood you correctly. We will send you the final (third) version within 24 hours.

 In total, it will take 5-7 business days. Please remember that edYOUcaters do not work on the weekends. We believe you will understand that quality service takes time. Our editors need to recharge themselves during the weekend to perfect your essay during the weekdays. As you can see from this process, it takes many thoughts and efforts, hence express service cannot be provided. Thank you for understanding.
